A predictable MENA pipeline is not a tactic.

It is an install.

Here is the 14 day plan.

This is for SaaS founders in MENA and teams entering MENA.

If you have a product you can sell now, this applies.

Day 1 to 3

Choose focus, not channels.

One industry

One buyer role

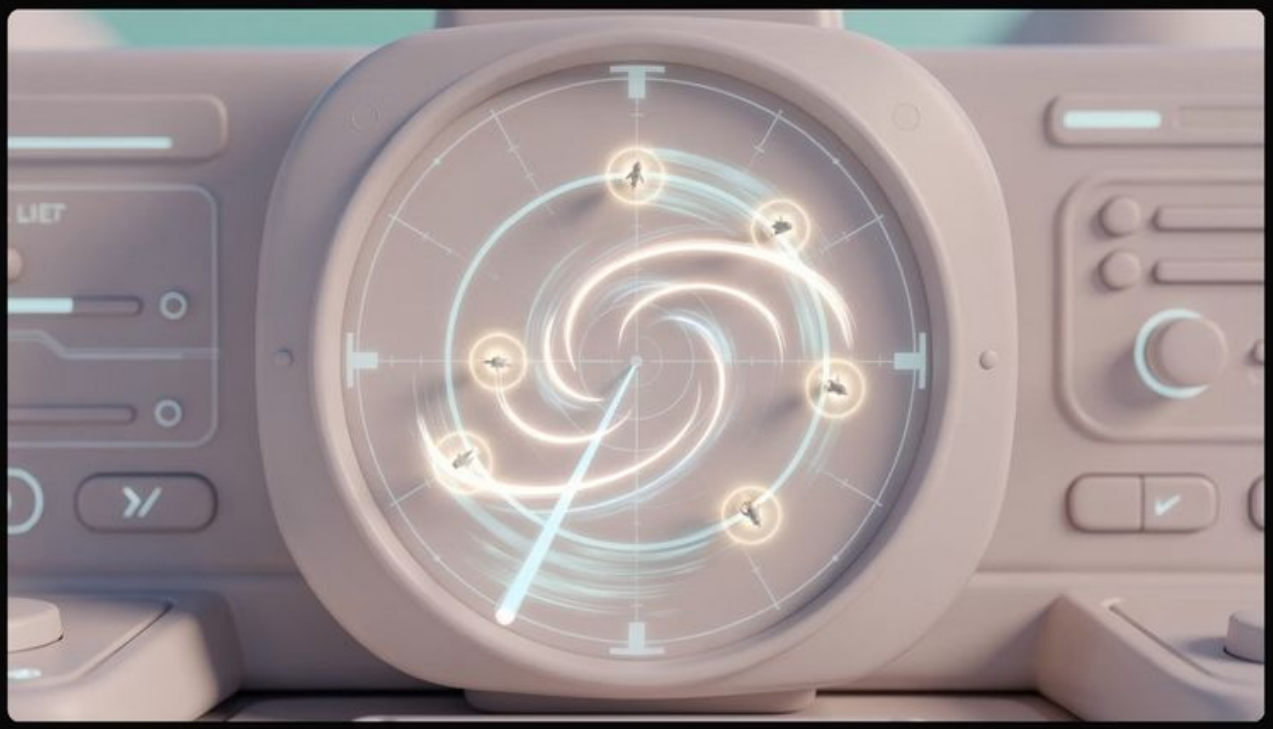
One wedge outcome

Day 1 to 3

Define 3 primary signals you can detect today.

Signals decide who is in market now.

No signals = guessing.



Day 4 to 7

Build the wedge message.

Not a pitch.

A specific offer that reduces risk.

Day 4 to 7 proof

Record the outcome demo video, 60 to 90 seconds.

Structure:

01

Problem they feel

02

What most vendors do wrong

03

Your mechanism

04

Outcome proof

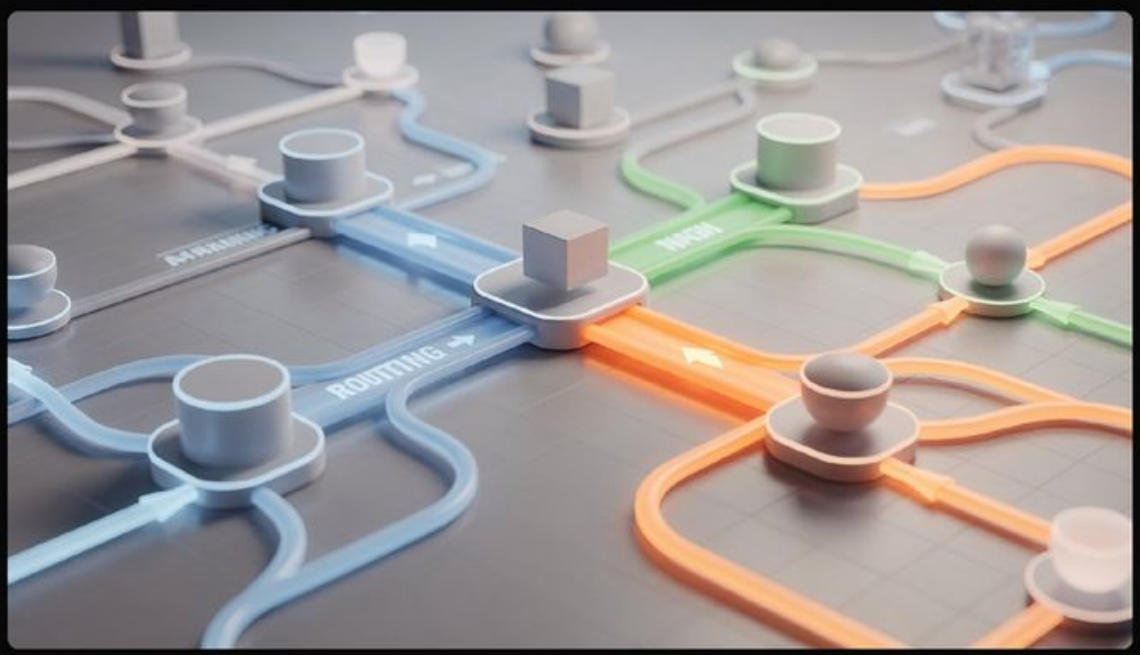
05

CTA

Day 8 to 10

Decide routing rules:

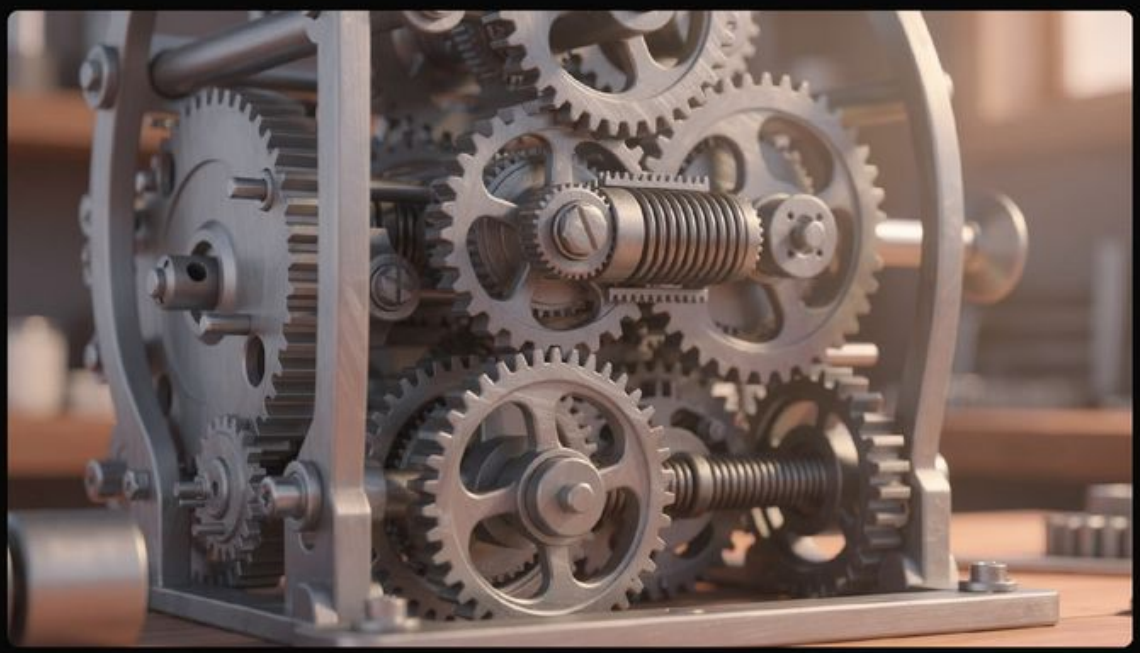
1. Which signal triggers which wedge
2. Which wedge routes to which proof video
3. Which proof routes to which next step



Day 8 to 10 follow up OS

Enforce follow up:

- SLA response time
- No response recovery ladder
- Escalation rules
- Owner assignment



Day 11 to 14 , measurement

Track the only numbers that matter early:

- Reply rate
- Booked calls
- Show rate
- Speed to lead

The truth

Founders do not scale by chasing.

They scale by installing systems that do not leak trust.

Want to know your bottleneck right now?

Take the 2 minute scorecard.

find the link in the comments.

MAMOUN ALAMOURI

Follow and Share

Mamoun Alamouri

For More content like this

I post about AI, Sales, & Marketing that works.